

Introduction to the New Story

The next meeting of the FMC New Story group is Monday, June 28, at 7:00pm. Come at 6:30 for fellowship. Newcomers are especially welcome to this program “Introduction to the New Story.” We will watch a short video “The Power of Story” by Drew Dillinger. Have you been curious but never got around to coming to a meeting? Why a “new” story? Why not an “old” story? Bring your questions. Bring your friends. We promise no math or physics required.

Gleanings from “The Power of Story”

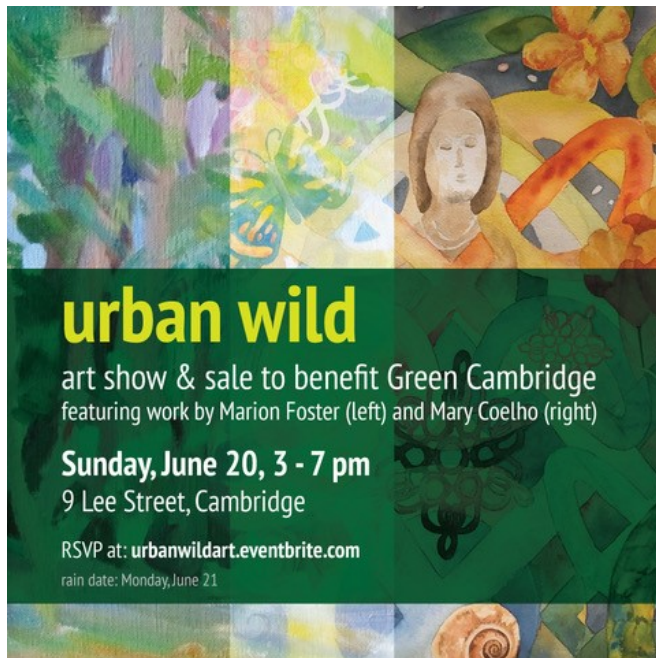

Thomas Berry wrote that it’s all a question of story. We are in trouble now because we do not have a good story. We are in between stories. The old story, the account of how the world came to be and how we fit into it is no longer effective, yet we have not learned the new story.

We need to build a movement that connects ecology, social justice, and cosmology (worldview) using the power of dream, the power of story, the power of art, and the power of action.

The Hours of the Universe: Reflections on God, Science, and the Human Journey

by Ilia Delio (Orbis Books: 2021),

The Franciscan Ilia Delio examines evolution through the lens of science, theology, technology, and personal development and reminds us that while evolving can be painful, God is always with us and for us, in and through it all.

Where a Deeptime Perspective Empowers Evolution

(Evolution) is the general condition to which all theories, all hypotheses, all systems must bow and which they must satisfy henceforward if they are to be thinkable and true. Evolution is a light which illuminates all facts, a curve that all lines must follow.

-- Pierre Teilhard de Chardin (1881-1955)

The Depth of Our Belonging: Mysticism, Physics and Healing (Reading Group)

With facilitator Judith Keller and author Mary Conrow Coelho. Six sessions, Wednesdays June 23 – July 28 from 7:00 – 8:30 pm.

Brian Swimme, Professor of Cosmology, California Institute of Integral Studies, writes:

“Mary Conrow Coelho has written a remarkable new book, The Depth of our Belonging: Mysticism, Physics, and Healing. As Mary came to understand the meaning of the evolutionary story and the depths of numinous matter, she realized to her great joy that mystical experiences are not strange or unusual. Rather, they are integral to the natural world and to our very being. This transformed world view enabled her to find healing from the consequences of a family tragedy when she was just an infant and a young child. In her courageous book, we are invited to move from self-doubt and alienation to deep belonging in a universe that unfolds with endless creativity. Highly recommended.”

Unlocking a Fresh Vision for Our World ~ Thomas Hübl

Our sole concern must be with making manifest the future which is immanent in ourselves. ~ Jean Gebser

Just like me ~ Pema Chodron

2 June 2021

“There’s a practice I like called “Just like me.” You go to a public place and sit there and look around. Traffic jams are very good for this. You zero in on one person and say to yourself things such as “Just like me, this person doesn’t want to feel uncomfortable. Just like me, this person loses it sometimes. Just like me, this person doesn’t want to be disliked. Just like me, this person wants to have friends and intimacy.”

“We can’t presume to know exactly what someone else is feeling and thinking, but still we do know a lot about each other. We know that people want to be cared about and don’t want to be hated. We know that most of us are hard on ourselves, that we often get emotionally triggered, but that we want to be of help in some way. We know that, at the most basic level, every living being desires happiness and doesn’t want to suffer.”

Holding the Earth in our arms ~ Thich Nhat Hanh

31 May 2021

“As you are the continuation of the Buddha, you should help him offer the world a path that can prevent the destruction of the ecosystem, one that can reduce the amount of violence and despair. It would be very kind of you to help the Buddha continue to realize what he began 2,600 years ago.

“Our planet Earth has a variety of life, and each species depends on other species in order to be able to manifest and to continue. We are not only outside of each other, but we are inside of each other. It is very important to hold the Earth in our arms, in our heart, to preserve the beautiful planet and to protect all species.”

~ Thich Nhat Hanh

The Story of The More Beautiful World ~ Charles Eisenstein

“In ten years of podcasting, this show with the legendary author and philosopher Charles Eisenstein might be my favorite. We discuss the myth of separation that has permeated our civilization, and the deep wounds of self-rejection that it has created. Then we build a new story, the story of interbeing, and how it can bring about The More Beautiful World Our Hearts Know Is Possible. This podcast will change the way you look at the world forever. Make sure you listen through to the end for an incredible fable that brings me to tears every time I hear it.” ~ Aubrey Marcus
